HOME AND CHILD

Does your horse "feel his oats"? What a difference between the grain-fed and the grass-fed horse! The first strong and full of ginger, the second flabby, weak and tired out before he begins. The feeding makes the difference.

Children are not alike either. One is rosy, bright-eyed, full of life and laughter, another is pale, weak and dull. The feeding again is responsible.

Sickly children need special feeding. They don't "feel their oats". Scott's Emulsion adds just the right richness to their diet. It is like grain to the horse. The child gets new appetite and strong digestion.

Scott's Emulsion is more than food. It is a strong medicine. It rouses up dull children, puts new flesh on thin ones and red blood into pale ones. It makes children grow. Scott's Emulsion makes ordinary food do its duty.

This picture represents the Trade Mark of Scott's Emulsion and is on the wrapper of every bottle.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Care of Brood Mares.

Some mares are very stubborn and aggravating about going into the barn at night and have to be driven in from the yard by force. Then, after getting them into the barn, it is still harder to run them into their stalls. Finally when they do go into the right stalls it is a very natural thing to strike them over the rump with a halter, board or anything that comes handy just as they jump through the door, says J. P. Foster, state veterinarian of South Dakota. I saw this done once, causing the mare to fall. This took place while letting her in from the yards at evening, and the mare lost her foal that night. Of course, there are many other causes that produce abortion, and the foregoing is simply an example of a few of the minor accidents that have come under my notice and might happen at almost any time. The remedy for this class of accidents is prevention. If there is ice in the yard and there is too much of it to be chopped up, ashes or manure may be spread over it and then wet down so that it will adhere and freeze to the ice underneath. Mares that are mean should not be allowed to run with others, and it may be necessary to let them have a small yard by themselves.

Care of Farm Harnesses.

The harness should be given a good cleaning and oiling at least once a year. It should be taken apart so that every part is treated, says Pacific Tree and Vine. It is usually necessary to wash it before oiling. For this purpose dissolve a bit of soap in a quart of soft water and boil, then add one quart of kerosene and stir and beat until a creamy emulsion is formed. Into a large tub of warm water pour the emulsion, stirring thoroughly; then put in the harness and let it soak until all the foreign matter can be rubbed off easily with a stiff brush. Take the harness out and place in shade and allow it to dry on the outside. Before it gets stiff apply some good harness oil, rubbing it on well. After a few hours rub off any superfluous oil which has not penetrated the leather, as otherwise it will become sticky and catch dust.

Never keep farm harness in a damp place, as the metallic parts will rust and the leather will mold and rot.

Roots Versus Ensilage.

We have strong doubts if it is profitable to grow roots as stock feed in this country, either in the eastern or western states, says Prairie Farmer. When they can be grown for market, those which are not of the proper market size can be used for that purpose to very good advantage, but as a fattening food corn can be grown under good conditions to produce more pounds of flesh at less cost than with any root crop that we know. As a succulent food, to assist digestion and keep the organs in good condition, ensilage when properly used has shown that it is far superior to any roots, and the labor of growing and putting in the silo is much less, while it has the additional advantage that if well packed in a good silo it may be kept more than one season before being used if not needed.

Wood Ashes For Fruit.

Wood ashes is a most valuable fertilizer for all fruit crops, but on account of the readily available condition of the contained potash is not durable. It is also valuable on all heavy soils for the mechanical effect. There is less potash in such ashes than is generally supposed; hence there is little danger of putting too much on. Last spring a pile of ashes from the cook stove was placed at one corner of the strawberry bed, says Farm and Ranch. The pile has accumulated until it is about 18 inches high and spread over about 75 square feet. The thickest and best plants are those where the soil around is from one to three inches deep, and plants nearly covered seem not to be injured.

Growing Winter Rye.

Winter rye will grow on any soil that will produce food for domestic animals. But it has a peculiar adaptation for soils sandy in texture, says Professor Thomas Shaw. It will not produce more food from these than from the humus soils of the prairie, but it will produce food earlier in the season. It will also make a good growth on such soils when too low in fertility to produce good crops of grain or even good crops of grass. This crop is invaluable to flockmasters whose soils are sandy and rather light for abundant crop production. It will grow well enough on stiff clays, but on these it cannot be grazed when the land is wet without doing great injury to the same.

Farm Less Land.

This uncertainty of crop conditions, which is almost sure to meet us every season, warns farmers to farm less and do it better, so that we can defy climatic changes, says a Pennsylvania farmer in Farm and Home. Have the land well drained, so that crops can be put in in season, even in a wet time. Have ground well fertilized, so that plants will get a good start before dry weather, which is almost sure to come. Then, with only so much ground in crops as can be thoroughly cultivated, especially in a dry time, a fair crop and reasonable remuneration for our labor are almost certain.

Discard Wood and Paper Milk Pails.

Milk vessels should be thoroughly clean during this hot weather that the bacteria may not pollute future messes of milk or cream. Wood or paper pails should never be used. A white iron pail is preferable, as it has no seams to serve as germ catchers. A tin pail with seams can be kept perfectly clean by scrubbing with a clean whisk broom and scalding water.

PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Popularity of "Our Mary."

Mrs. Mary Anderson Navarro, whom we still delight to call "Our Mary," emerged from her rural retirement the other day to attend a bazaar given by Lady Elcho of Wickhamford manor, and English newspapers say she was the bright particular star of the occasion, although Arthur Balfour, leader of the house of commons, was the guest of honor. The object of the bazaar was to raise funds for the restoration of Wickhamford church, one of the oldest and most interesting churches in England. Mrs. Navarro arranged for the occasion and directed a dramatic entertainment in which the leading parts were taken by children.

The Navarros live in a little village named Broadway, which is near to Wickhamford, in Gloucestershire. They are very retiring, but popular, and wherever "Our Mary" goes she is received and treated royally.

Real Names of Noted Rulers.

Suppose that some morning there should appear in the newspapers such an item as this: "Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Wettin, accompanied by their nephew, Mr. Frederick W. V. A. Hohenzollern, sailed yesterday from Liverpool for New York." How many people would give more than a passing glance at this announcement? Yet it would be a piece of news calculated to throw the people of New York—and the whole of this country, in fact—into a paroxysm of excitement and feverish expectation, as must be admitted when the names of King Edward VII, Queen Alexandra and Emperor William of Germany are respectively substituted for the true family names given in the supposititious item. Then there is the youthful matron, Mrs. Henry Schwarzen, who wields more power than any other woman of 21 now living. She is known to the world as Wilhelmina of Holland and is the only queen in the world today with the same powers as a king.—Ladies' Home Journal.

M. Constans and the Turk.

M. Constans, French minister in Constantinople, created quite a little stir in European diplomatic circles the other day by putting the bars up against the "Unspeaking Turk." The trouble grew out of the dilatory methods of the sublime porte.

Some time ago a French company was organized to build quays and docks at Constantinople. The sultan gave them a concession. It was understood that when they were finished Turkey would buy the works. Apparently the sultan thought better of this and began raising all sorts of difficulties.

M. Constans pressed the Turkish government for a definite decision. Delay annoyed him to such an extent that he went direct to the sultan. The latter at an audience promised him a final answer by the following day. This did not come, so M. Constans gave him three days more, threatening to break off relations if the answer was not forthcoming. The sultan remained silent, so M. Constans was not forthcoming then.

Nebraska's New Senator.

Hon. J. H. Millard, the new senator from Nebraska, was chosen at the close of the legislature in the spring to succeed the late Senator Hayward, whose unexpired term was being filled by Senator Allen by appointment of the governor. When Senator Millard first entered Nebraska, Pawnee Indians overran the country. That was in 1856, when Nebraska was a territory. There were only three white farmers in the county in which Omaha is located. Senator Millard is a Canadian by birth. His parents left the country when he was young and settled in Iowa. Later the son crossed into Nebraska. He is a man of about 55 years of age, of massive build and wears a beard slightly touched with gray and trimmed to a point.

ECZEMA'S ITCH IS TORTURE.

Eczeema is caused by an acid humor in the blood coming in contact with the skin and producing great redness and inflammation; little pustular eruptions form and discharge a thin, sticky fluid, which dries and scales off; sometimes the skin is dry and fissured. Eczeema in any form is a tormenting, stubborn disease, and the itching and burning at times are almost unbearable; the acid burning humor seems to ooze out and set the skin on fire. Salves, washes nor other external applications do any real good, for as long as the poison remains in the blood it will keep the skin irritated.

BAD FORM OF TETTER.

"For three years I had Tetters on my hands, which caused them to swell twice their natural size. Part of the time the disease was in the form of running sores, very painful, and causing me much discomfort. Four doctors said the Tetters had progressed too far, and that they could do nothing for me. I took only three bottles of S. S. S. and was completely cured. This was fifteen years ago, and I have never since seen a sign of my old trouble."—Mrs. T. B. JACKSON, 1114 McGee St., Kansas City, Mo.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

Baltimore, Md., March 30, 1902. Gentlemen:—Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain Very truly yours,

PROMINENT ST. LOUIS FAIR PROMOTERS.

Over a score of the most prominent citizens of St. Louis have this week been guests of old friends and neighbors in Kentucky, for every member of the party is a son of the Bluegrass State. They have been here for the purpose of interesting the Legislature in the passage of the pending $200,000 appropriation bill for a Kentucky Building and Exhibit at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition of 1903. Some telling arguments have been put forth by the former Kentuckians why their native State should be well represented at the big show, and they succeeded in arousing a great deal of enthusiasm in the project.

It was a memorable swing around the circuit the visitors made. They reached Louisville, Monday morning. The Board of Trade, Commercial Club, and citizens generally, received them with open arms. At the State Capital on Tuesday, Gov. Beckham and Mayor Darnell headed a reception committee that met the visitors at the depot, and at noon a joint session of the House and Senate was held with the Missourians as the star guests.

From Frankfort, where an entire day was enjoyably spent, the visitors proceeded to Lexington, and were received with open arms in the heart of the Bluegrass. The party returned home Thursday morning.

The delegation was the most prominent one yet sent out by the World's Fair Legislative Committee. Three ex-Governors and the present Lieutenant Governor of Missouri were in the list, and all of them were born on Kentucky soil. These distinguished former Kentuckians were: Ex-Gov. David R. Francis, President of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company, Ex-Gov. Wm. J. Stone and Ex-Gov. Thos. T. Crittenden, and Lieutenant Governor John A. Lee. It is believed that the excursion will result in a handsome showing by Kentucky at the World's Fair of 1903.

Women and Jewels.

Jewels, candy, flowers, man—that is the order of a woman's preferences. Jewels form a magnet of mighty power to the average woman. Even that greatest of all jewels, health, is often ruined in the strenuous efforts to make or save the money to purchase them. If a woman will risk her health to get a coveted gem, then let her fortify herself against the insidious consequences of coughs, colds and bronchial affections by the regular use of Dr. Boschee's German Syrup. It will promptly arrest consumption in its early stages and heal the affected lungs and bronchial tubes and drive the dread disease from the system. It is not a cure all but it is a certain cure for coughs, colds and all bronchial troubles. You can get Dr. G. G. Green's reliable remedies at W. T. Brooks'. Get Green's Special Almanac
